

Qing China and Ottoman Empire Comparison Activity

As states like Great Britain, France, Germany, and the United States began to rapidly industrialize, other states “sought to reform and modernize their economies and militaries. Reform efforts were often resisted by some members of government or established elite groups.” (KC-5.1.V.B) Use the Venn diagram to compare how the two governments attempted to reform and also struggled with some internal resistance!

Within Padlet 1) fill in the thesis for this question: Evaluate the extent to which Ottoman responses to western industrialization were similar to the responses of Qing China to western industrialization in the period ca. 1850 - 1915 CE. 2) List specific pieces of evidence you would use to support your thesis.

Although the Ottoman Empire was similar to Qing China in their responses to western industrialization in that they both _____,

Ultimately the two states differed in their responses to western industrialism because _____.

