

Comparative - Mexican, Chinese, and Russian Revolutions

The revolutions of the early 1900s (in Mexico, China, and Russia) were unique, but all had some similar qualities. Practice your comparative skill as you check out the major pieces of each revolution.

	Mexican (1910-1917/1920)	China: Democratic/Nationalist (1911-1912)	Russian Provisional/Communist (1917)
Underlying and other causes
Leadership of the revolution	Francisco Madero: Pancho Villa: Emiliano Zapata:	Sun Yat Sen: Yuan Shikai: Chiang Kai-shek:	Vladimir Lenin: Leon Trotsky: Josef Stalin:
Women in the revolution	Adelitas:	Wu Shuqing and the Women's Revolutionary Army:	Women's March: Alexandra Mikhailovna Kollontai and Bolshevik Women:
"End" of the revolution
Effects of the revolution
Thesis Statement:	Evaluate the extent to which early 20th century revolutions were similar to one another.		